The Apple and the Tree

EUROPE Interests everybody in America, from capitalists at the top of the heap to strugglers at the bottom.

If they pay us the billions they owe, we shall be, by thousands of millions more, the richest of nations. But, IF THEY PAY US, they will have to ruin us by taking away our trade, through price cutting. At least,
they tell us so.

Perhaps we shall be saved from that ruin. A parley called at Brussels is supposed to be the first step toward repudiation of Europe's debts to us. If she does not pay us, Europe won't have to ruin us. The very best that we can hope for seems to be the worst of it. Either we lose our ten billions, or we get the money, and are ruined.

THE BRITISH way that if America does not call an other arm conference, Britain will do so. The cry from at least 100,000,000 deep United States hearts will be, "Go ahead and call your conference, and PLEASE leave us out."
We had one conference, at Washington, and it was plenty.
It made us junk our brand new battleships, sunk our only part finished, costing hundreds of millions. It made us the world's policeman in the Pacific, guaranteeing to Europe and Japan their loot on that broad ocean.

If Uncle Sam has ANY brains,
he ought to feel about conferences with Europe as a small boy feels about going to the dentist.

THE UPRISING in China grows worse. That also is news for Europe, which for years has been skinning the cream from China. The United States is requested by Europeans in China to take a hand and restore order. Chinese chestnuts should be pulled out of the fire by those that get the chestnuts—not by the United States.

We might send warships to take aboard our good missionaries, and other Americans, leaving the Chinese to save their own souls hereafter. But that ought to be all.

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE, who does not know what to do with a vacation when he gets it, will spend July 4 at his father's farm, and pitch hay. He will do some thinking about the men that made July 4 what it is. Very likely he will give thought to Washington's advice about keeping out of European entanglements.

There are plenty of these entanglements. See today's news from Greece. A rebellion in the army and navy has swept the country, and swept the government out of power.

We sympathize with both sides, as you sympathize with your neighbor and his wife in a family row. But you don't go ever and try to settle it. You remember the French proverb:
"Never put your finger between the bark and the tree," and that is something that Uncle Sam should remember.

THIS IS NEW. On July Fourth fliers far above the earth will talk to each other in the air, using transmitters and receivers on their planes. The conversation will be taken by a receiving station on the ground, sent broadcast, and men on earth will hear other men talking to each other up in the clouds.

EXTEND that a little, and you see this planet listening to conversations on the moon.
That may come, quite easily, although any journey to the moon or outside planet, in the flesh, will probably forever remain physically impossible.

YOU READ of the latest divorce suit charges. The husband accuses his wife, who "lenses coddy," of giving live entertainments at which guests of both sexes were, by way of clothing, exactly nothing at all.

COMB THEATRE RUINS IN VAIN FOR BODIES

Kansas City, Mo., June 25.—The ruins of the Gilt Theatre were being searched today for the bodies of persons believed to have perished when a fire and an explosion wrecked the theatre and more than a dozen stores.

Early reports indicated that 35 to 50 persons had perished but several hours after the search started no bodies had been recovered.

John Hogan, fireman, is the only man known to have been killed. His death occurred when a fire truck overturned.

Alexander Henderson, fire chief, said he believed that not more than six or eight bodies would be found.
A cook in a restaurant adjoining the theatre is the only person known to be unaccounted for.

"FLAMING PASSION."
Police believe the blast occurred in a restaurant in the Gilt building.

Fire Chief Henderson estimated that it would require at least two days to clear away the wreckage.

Between 200 and 300 persons were in the theatre. A motion picture
"Flaming Passion," was being shown.

AS MRS. COOLIDGE GOES BUYING PRESIDENT PASSES OUT PLUMS

While President Calvin Coolidge attended to official business for the first time since his vacation began at White Court, Swampscott, Mrs. Coolidge went shopping in Salem today.

It is so happened that at the time the Chief Executive of the Nation was conferring with the Mayor of Cambridge and making two important appointments in the service of the government, the First Lady of the Land was making purchases in a 5 and 10-cent store.

Mrs. Coolidge was accompanied on her first local shopping tour by Mrs.
Frank W. Bennett as far as Salem, where she stayed at the home of friends while the President's wife visited a five and ten-cent store.

Meanwhile the President appointed Dwight Hall of Dover, N. H., to be commander of customs for the Boston district, with headquarters in this city. Mr. Hall replaces Harry W. Spaulding of Manchester, N. H., in that office, which from colonial times until recently was known as that of naval officers.

CHECK ON N. E. PORTS
Up to the recent change the office carried little authority, and for many years has been a New Hampshire snore. Under the new system it is sort of a auditing position, through which all the ports of New England except Connecticut are checked. The Boston district comprises all of New England excepting the Seaboard
State.

Twilight Hall for several years was chairman of the Republican State Committee of New Hampshire.
The other appointment was that of Alfred J. Peterson of Drake Improvement, Iowa, to be minister to Finland. John E. Boston of Philadelphia was recently selected for the post, but failed to sail for Finland, and it was said that he might remain in the diplomatic service, although the President was not prepared to announce his new assignment.

WILL HIDE IN PARADE
Following a conference with Cambridge officials, it was announced that President and Mrs. Coolidge have consented to ride in the parade to be held in that city July 2 in connection with the celebration of the fifth anniversary of the assumption of command of the Continental Army by Washington.

she remained silent.

George Herman "Babe" Ruth,

Boss Huggins, who brings his men

the Boston Evening American there was little possibility of the "Babe of Baseball" getting into Saturday's game.
"Ruth has been ailing with swollen feet and ankles and I decided to give him a rest for about a week," said Huggins.

and a military escort. Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge will ride in an open automobile from the Walker Memorial building on the Esplanade to the White House, and then to the White House. After the parade the President will speak at the exercises on Cambridge Common, a step from the site of the Washington Elm, and close in the city of the famous old tree that was planted before its demise.

These assurances were given to Mayor Edward W. Quinn of Cambridge, Captain Francis J. Good, who will be chief marshal of the parade, and Colonel Frank Converse, commander of the 10th Infantry, who will be chief of staff.

IMPORTANT ADDRESS PROMISED

While no official information was given, it is understood that the President's address will be one of the most important that he has yet delivered.

The Cambridge committee, arriving at White Court at eleven o'clock, was escorted with the President for twenty-five minutes in his study. They were informed that the President would be in Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge will arrive at Memorial Building on the Cambridge Esplanade at 1:35 p. m. on July 3, taking their place in the procession which is scheduled to start at two o'clock.

The distinguished guests will leave their automobiles at the reserved stand opposite Christ Church, and the exercises on the Common will begin about 4 o'clock.

Fifteen minutes later the President will start speaking, his remarks being broadcast by radio, and carried over the crowd by amplifiers, as will be those of Mayor Quinn and other speakers.

Although Mayor Quinn is a member of the National Democratic committee, it was pointed out that his political affiliations had no bearing on the fact that he was given the first conference by the President since the start of his term.

MRS. COOLIDGE IN SUIT 3000.

While the conference was in progress Mrs. Coolidge returned with Mr. Stearns from his shopping trip to a dry good store. She was wearing a suit of dark blue, and a hat of the same color.

and seemed much pleased with the results of his shopping. Her shopping car was towed by another bearing Secret Service operatives.

Immediately after the conference the big official car pulled up to the door and for the second time today Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge were waiting along the short for a short distance, starting at 1:35 and returning at 1:55. Then the President took a walk with Roy Roy, who seemed to get out again.

READY WHEN LOUISE CALLED. All hands, from the President down, showed their appreciation of the end of the hot summer of yesterday and the return of sunlight. President Coolidge was not early, and did not in a suit of dark blue, his favorite panama, he took a brief constitutional of fifteen minutes before breakfast, working up an appetite for Louise Joubert's breakfast.

Breakfast over, he again appeared in the grounds of White Court.

At 8:15, a time when most vacationers are usually preparing for breakfast, the President and Mrs. Coolidge stepped into the big car driven by Chauffer Robinson, and rolled along the shore drive to Marblehead, returning without stop in time to greet the visiting officials from Cambridge.

Aside from the conference, the President faced a far busier day than either of the first two at Swampscott, as the mail pouches are now arriving regularly from Washington containing many communications that demand his personal attention.

At 4 o'clock this afternoon Mr. Coolidge has promised to meet the newspapermen again.

There was considerable speculation as to whether Vice-President Dawes would drop in at the White House, as he was due in Boston today from Kennebunk, Mr. where he has been the guest of Kenneth L. Roberts, author, magazine writer and former Boston newspaperman.

Everett Sanders, the President's confidential secretary, said he had not heard whether the Vice-President would visit White Court, but he expected he will put in an appearance.

Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge are expected to spend a quiet week-end, not even taking a cruise on the Mayflower. Several invitations have reached the President in the last twelve hours, one of which he has accepted. It is to attend the annual field day tendered the newspapermen of Essex County by Frank Haver of Lynn, on his farm at Lake Attitash on July 11. Mr. Coolidge is an old friend of Haver, who is a candidate for the mayoralty of Lynn.

MAY HEAD BAL TEAM. One of the features of the day's entertainment is a baseball game between the Essex County correspondents and those accompanying the President to Massachusetts with President Coolidge's campaign team and Governor Fuller the other.

The Essex County Republican Club also invited Mr. Coolidge to attend their tournament in honor of Senator William M. Butler, chairman of the National Republican Committee, on July 29. It is believed the President will also accept this invitation.

At the New Ocean House in Swampscott, a convention of the Seaboard is in session. There are 100 delegates in attendance and Secretary Sanders has been asked to arrange for the librarians to be given an opportunity to meet and shake hands with the President.

MRS. COOLIDGE COMES LUMBER

Bill Bulet of Swampscott Crested at Front Door by White Court Mistress

By HERT FORT.

To be read as the family plumber by the first lady in the land William A. Bulet of Swampscott had the thrill and is still basking in the honor. Bill is courted by every mother's son in the trade today.

What's more, Mrs. Frank W. Stearns opened the front door at White Court for William and presented him to Mrs. Coolidge, who after greeting him cordially, as she does everybody, exclaimed with a show of enthusiasm.

"Oh, the plumber. You are indeed most welcome, sir."

And Bill stopped in a while and laid down the incident of the day. The fact that Bill established a record by being the first plumber to reach the White House without an assistant and who didn't have to go back for material or someone to fix a leak.

HELD UP BY GUARD. Bill didn't have any sledding when he arrived at the outer portals of White Court, the Summer capital of the President. The local police guard recognized him in the eastern downpour, but the marine guard held him up. That's how it happened that Mrs. Stearns and Mrs. Coolidge came to the door and to Bill's rescue.

And when Bill went into the President's bathroom he was confronted with the phenomenon of hot water being a system in the White House without an assistant and who didn't have to go back for material or someone to fix a leak.

Bill Bulet isn't new on that rank. On the contrary it is the mayor of the Summer Capital to him and brought him face-to-face with the President and Mrs. Coolidge. Bulet is a member of the firm of Bulet & Libby, No. 415 Huntington street.

P.S.—Bill may have departed from the usual custom of plumbers. That he brought his tools and finished the job yesterday.

Same day, but he's going to submit a bill just the same.

First interest at the Summer White House today to the extent of Bill's job was the fact that he had been in the White House for the first time.

OLYMPIA WATER GUN

DAINTY OFFICE OF BAL.

New Haven, Ct. June 24.—Olympia Water Gun, a new water gun, was introduced today at the Summer Capital to him and brought him face-to-face with the President and Mrs. Coolidge. Bulet is a member of the firm of Bulet & Libby, No. 415 Huntington street.

P.S.—Bill may have departed from the usual custom of plumbers. That he brought his tools and finished the job yesterday.

Same day, but he's going to submit a bill just the same.

First interest at the Summer White House today to the extent of Bill's job was the fact that he had been in the White House for the first time.

MRS. COOLIDGE TO PICK FOOD IN PERSON

Bill Bulet of Swampscott Crested at Front Door by White Court Mistress

By HERT FORT.

To be read as the family plumber by the first lady in the land William A. Bulet of Swampscott had the thrill and is still basking in the honor. Bill is courted by every mother's son in the trade today.

What's more, Mrs. Frank W. Stearns opened the front door at White Court for William and presented him to Mrs. Coolidge, who after greeting him cordially, as she does everybody, exclaimed with a show of enthusiasm.

And Bill stopped in a while and laid down the incident of the day. The fact that Bill established a record by being the first plumber to reach the White House without an assistant and who didn't have to go back for material or someone to fix a leak.

HELD UP BY GUARD. Bill didn't have any sledding when he arrived at the outer portals of White Court, the Summer capital of the President. The local police guard recognized him in the eastern downpour, but the marine guard held him up. That's how it happened that Mrs. Stearns and Mrs. Coolidge came to the door and to Bill's rescue.

And when Bill went into the President's bathroom he was confronted with the phenomenon of hot water being a system in the White House without an assistant and who didn't have to go back for material or someone to fix a leak.

Bill Bulet isn't new on that rank. On the contrary it is the mayor of the Summer Capital to him and brought him face-to-face with the President and Mrs. Coolidge. Bulet is a member of the firm of Bulet & Libby, No. 415 Huntington street.

Wilbur Pledge Brown, New York Newspaperman, and Bride on Hub Honeymoon

A sweet voice over the telephone culminated in a marriage when Wilbur Pledge Brown, of the New York Hospital, and Miss Elsie Henderson, of the New York Hospital, after a hurried trip to Boston, kept before the altar of St. John the Divine Church, Arlington, and were married by the bride's brother-in-law, Rev. Dr. Charles Taber Hall.

On an assignment last February, Brown called the New York hospital and talked with Miss Henderson. Attracted by her voice, he went to the hospital and found her voice to be fully justified by other attractions.

Many meetings followed until one night last April at a dinner in one of New York's night clubs on his twenty-third birthday, Brown and Miss Henderson were introduced.

"Shall we?" he asked Miss Henderson, who, with quick understanding, replied, "Let's." This was the first word of love spoken between the two.

"Let's make it this Saturday, when I'm off," said Brown, and they were married secretly on that day, May 1. Unwilling to let their friends know, the couple journeyed to Boston and were again married in a church wedding in Arlington. As they don't care who knows it, they are spending a brief honeymoon in Boston with the Copleys at their headquarters.

Brown, an American born citizen, located in the Canadian army at the outbreak of the war. He received the Victoria Cross for bravery in action. During his courtship of Miss Henderson, he discovered that she, a Canadian, was in this country during the war and served with the American forces as a Red Cross nurse for three years.

AUTHORITY ON ASTHMA.
Miss Henderson, now Mrs. Wilbur Pledge Brown, is well known in New York hospital circles where she stands high in research work and is an authority on asthma, having been in charge of a clinic in the New York Hospital.

Mrs. Brown was born in Hamilton, Quebec, and Brown in Richmond, Va. The couple will live in New York where the bride will continue in her clinical work at the New York hospital.

SOUTH END MAN HELD FOR ROBBERY HOLDUP

Ansie E. Baker of Washington street, South End, was held in $15,000 bail for hearing July 1 in Roxbury Court today on the charge of robbery while armed as a result of the robbery of Karlson Kohnen at his fruit store in Dudley street on June 23. Baker surrendered himself at the police station, saying he heard the police were seeking him and that he was the wrong man and not connected with the holdup. He was held, however, and, according to the police, later to be released to the man who attempted the robbery.

At the time of the holdup Karlson wrestled the gun from his assailant, turning it on the man who fired.

GERMAN ARMY EXPERTS PRAISE U. S. AIR FORCES

New York, June 24 (A.P.)—The first German military mission to visit the United States since the World War is on its way home after an eight weeks' tour of inspection of army posts, aviation fields and factories. The party included four officers of the reserve corps and the tour was apparently guarded with secrecy.

Kirkley F. Mather Among the Many Notables Called in Famous Tennessee Case

Dayton, Tenn., June 24 (A.P.)—Professor Kirkley F. Mather, chief of the department of geology, Harvard University, author of many books on scientific subjects and one of the leading geological authorities in the United States, will be one of the scientific experts who will be called to testify in the defense of John T. Scopes for alleged violation of the Tennessee law prohibiting the teaching of evolution.

He is a member of the Baptist Church and superintendent of the Baptist Sunday School in Newton, Mass.

The list of experts was announced by Dudley Field Malone of New York, associated with counsel for the defendant.

The list includes both scientific advisers and witnesses who have testified their willingness to appear, Mr. Malone said.

Among them are Dr. Henry Fairfield Osborn, research professor of geology, Columbia University, author of papers on the relation of science and religion. He is described as the most active opponent of Mr. Bryan in the present discussion.

Dr. Edwin Cope, professor of biology, Princeton University, author of "Direction of Human Evolution," prominent member of the Congregational Church.

Arthur M. Miller, professor of geology, University of Kentucky, Professor Miller was Scopes' teacher of geology at the Kentucky institution.

Henry Higgins Lane, professor of zoology, University of Kansas, author of "Evolution and Creation Faiths."

Dr. Edward L. Rice, professor of biology, Ohio Wesleyan University, author of address entitled "Darwin and Bryan," and numerous articles on science and religion.

Dr. J. G. Lipman, biologist, Rutgers College, New Brunswick, N. J. Dr. Ward J. MacNicol, chief biologist of the Post-Graduate Medical School, New York City.

Professor L. F. Batiger, biologist of Yale University, author of books on scientific subjects and science and religion.

Professor Margaret M. Metcalf of the zoology department, Oberlin College, O., author of works on evolution and zoology; long associated with Congregational churches and colleges.

PROF. BLAKESLEE WARNS OF RACE WAR IN PACIFIC

Honolulu, June 23 (A.P.)—The danger of a great racial alignment and possible racial clash in the Pacific and the need for consideration of race feeling and dignity to avert friction and conflict were pointed out in a luncheon address today at the Y. M. C. A. by Professor G. H. Blakeslee, professor of history and international relations of Clark University, Worcester, and member of the Institute of Pacific Relations.

Blakeslee said Japan and the United States had no fundamental clash of interests or policy sufficient to cause war.

PANIC IN STORE AS MAN FLOURISHES KNIVES

Armed with two pointed arguments, always in the mode in some circles, God Hyrie of the South End went shopping today, but although he received much attention, he is still missing from the theatre program notes headed, "What the Men Are Wearing."

The chief difficulty with God Hyrie's method of shopping was that he, having taken carte blanche at the Continental Clothing store in Washington street, was not only given carte blanche but was given the entire store.

Some days ago Hyrie, filled with the urge to spend a bit, ordered a suit at the store and asked that it be sent to him at No. 48 Montague street in the South End.

Today he walked into the store again, carrying this time a slim, paper-wrapped package.

"Where's the suit?" he demanded loudly and waved the package on high.

Clerks and customers stared at him and, when Hyrie began to move rapidly around the store, waving the package and uttering words of the Continental, together with customers, had all abandoned him in Washington street and Hyrie was left in possession of the store.

Miss Nicolina Gentile, of No. 95 Leverett street, knew what to do when she discovered a fire in the block. She looked after the children first, and then made sure of the safety of others. Meantime, she had called the fire department.

Miss Nicolina Gentile, of No. 95 Leverett street, West End, has had the makings of a heroine all her life, but not until today did they crop out, when a fire raged in the first floor of the block where she lives.

Eleven persons, most of them women and children, were rescued by Miss Gentile and policemen from out of the choking smoke.

Arrested from sleep by the smoke, Nicolina faced the situation coolly. First she awakened her family and told them to dress. Then she went to a window, called for aid and went about arousing other families of the tenement block.

Seeing Mary Salcezo in her arms, Nicolina carried the child down to the street and returned for others.

Meanwhile Patrolmen Galvin, Barry, Murphy and Braumhaas had arrived and added Nicolina in assisting and leading other occupants to safety.

They included Mr. and Mrs. Angelo Salcezo and four other children. How, Nicolina, Michael and Angelina.

In the Grangeville, besides Nicolina, were Mr. and Mrs. Dominic Gentile and three other children.

The fire started in the Western Pharmacy on the first floor and caused a damage of $100.

SIGEL'S GRANDDAUGHTER SUICIDE IN NEW YORK
New York, June 24 (A.P.)—Mabel Weitzel, thirty-one years old, grand daughter of General Franz Sigel, one of Grant's commanders in the Civil War was found dead by asphyxiation in her apartment in Manhattan today. With evidence that she had committed suicide, this was the second wife of the New York newspaper man.

Miss Helen Edwards, heiress to West Virginia millions, whose wedding to Joseph E. Bradley of Cambridge on Saturday at "Mirador," her father's estate at Squam Lake, N. H., will be the most brilliant in the history of the State. Miss Edwards and her party were to be guests today aboard the Presidential yacht Mayflower.

Hub Restaurant Man Stabbed
by Jealous Crazy Husband of Employee

While he was driving the car himself, the blood poured from the wound in the neck's chest. It was lost of blood that caused him to fall upon the highway of the drive to the doctor.

Mrs. Elizabeth Dwyer, 30, is a housewife. The two were negotiating for the over of the restaurant, following Dwyer's orders, early to day when Dwyer rushed into the restaurant, making his way to the rear.

"What are you doing with my wife here?" the crazed husband demanded. "She's working for me."

Talia responded, not aware that he was in any danger.

"What do you want?" shouted the husband. He held a long blade, waving knife from the table and rushed at Talia. The waiter, seeing the danger, rushed to the aid of the victim.

Mr. E. J. Bliss,
Regal Shoe Company,
125 Summer Street,
Boston, Mass.

My dear Sir:

"KNOWLEDGE IS POWER," quoth Bacon the English philosopher in the 17th century. About this time a monk of England invented the size stick. Three centuries later the RESCO FITTING MACHINE was invented in America, by E. J. Bliss. President of the Regal Shoe Company.

A modern version of the stick is the POWER in the RESCO FITTING MACHINE. What is a size stick and what do its marks mean?

The size stick was invented as a means of measuring feet. As 8 barley corns = 1 inch, the size stick was made 89 barley corns long which equalled 11 inches. This explains the origin of shoe sizes.

For three centuries shoes have been fitted by the uncertain size sticks length from heel to large toe determining size, regardless of the person's width when standing.

"I guess you need a larger size."

We are living in a Scientific Age—GUESS WORK is obsolete. The product of this age is the RESCO FITTING MACHINE.

What are its advantages over the old fashioned size stick?

1 - It takes the guess out of shoe fitting.
2 - It automatically measures width and length of both feet while standing.
3 - It is absolutely accurate.
4 - It is the scientific method.

That is the result of this scientific method? "What are assured a perfect fit, which means comfort, satisfaction and economy."

No matter how fine the workmanship, how splendid the leather—all are naught unless shoes fit correctly. A perfect fit is made possible through RESCO SCIENTIFIC FITTING MACHINE.

As the 20th Century Limited has displaced the Sedan Chair of the 17th century—so the 20th Century RESCO FITTING MACHINE has supplanted the size stick of the 17th century.

Yours very truly,

(Mrs) Olivia Dennis

The Price-Winning Letter in the $1000.
Resco Fitting Machine Contest

A National Endorsement of the New Scientific Resco Fitting Machine

Recently I visited four different stores to purchase a pair of shoes. Three of them got out the measuring stick. Not one of the three size recommended would fit. The fourth was a Regal store, and for the first time in thirty years my feet (not feet) were measured correctly. Before it was the feet that had to fit the shoe, but this time it was the shoe that had to fit the feet.

(Miss M. Hagar, Syracuse, New York)

I will constantly for forty years as a work on a concrete floor and have suffered from feet absolutely worn out, until I bought Regal shoes fitted with Resco Measuring Machine—since then my feet are as fit in the evening as in the morning.

(Mr. M. Pearson, Oakland, California)

You may think your shoes comfortable for walking, that they are measured in them sitting down? Any shoe is comfortable sitting down. Your weight on your feet presses the shoe work and does away with that old problem of "breaking them in."

(Mrs. S. S. Morris, Pitts, Miss.)

If there is room enough for perfect comfort in your shoes in a standing position, there will be no pinching when you sit down. The old-fashioned shoe, however, presses the feet down by asking you to stand up in the new shoe, AFTER he has measured your feet sitting down.

(Mr. Harry Thompson, Philadelphia, Pa.)

Two men, six feet tall, one weighs 250 pounds, the other 140 pounds. Feet measure alike on the size stick sitting down. Are their shoes the same size? No, the 250 pound man's feet expanded more under pressure when standing so he should have a larger and wider shoe.

I purchased a pair of Regal shoes from the store with perfect comfort and have worn them every day since, without trouble from either shoes or feet. In fact, for the past ten years I have never regretted the cost of my shoes.

(E. H. Savage, Worcester, Mass.)

The "Resco" eliminates the ill effects on the feet from standing by the "size stick," entirely by having shoes fitted by the "size stick" sitting down.

(Louis Martin, St. Louis, Mo.)

One foot is usually larger than the other. In most cases it is the left one. Shoes to fit should be measured to the larger foot. The only way to get shoes that fit both feet is to have them measured by the Resco Fitting Machine, and let this new scientific measuring machine tell you the length of your feet.

(John A. Hayes, Liberty, N. Y.)

The scale on the size stick is a futile attempt to combine measurements of an individual's feet. It is impossible to get the style (length) of a person by measuring the length of one foot can tell the size of the other foot.

(Mrs. A. H. Hayes, Liberty, N. Y.)

(Reference with Resco in the Army). I do not recall a single instance where a soldier's feet were measured after they were fitted with Regal shoes. I have used and seen in use in large numbers of feet.

(Wm. E. Robinson, General Hospital, San Antonio, Ark.)

On April 1st we announced to 9,965,384 wearers of shoes that we had installed the new scientific "RESCO" Fitting Machine exclusively in all Regal Stores from New York to San Francisco.

In order to focus public attention on the present antiquated and inadequate method of measuring and fitting feet, and remove the cause of so much suffering from mis-fitting shoes, we offered $1000 in Prizes for the best letters answering the following two simple questions:

1—What do the marks on this old-fashioned size stick mean—are they inches, or millimeters, or what?

2—What are the advantages of the new scientific RESCO Fitting Machine over the old-fashioned method of measuring feet with a size stick?

The overwhelming and enthusiastic response from 34 different states,—even from far off Honolulu, proved conclusively that our announcement aroused a National Consciousness to the importance of having shoes properly fitted.

Thousands who had their feet measured by the RESCO Fitting Machine, were startled to find out how much difference there was in the measurement of their feet when standing up, and sitting down. Hundreds were surprised to find out that one foot was longer than the other, and that the width of the right foot was different from the left foot.

The verdict was unanimous that the only safe and correct way to get a comfortable fit in a stylish shoe, was to have the length and width of both feet measured at the same time under the weight of the body.

The contest closed June 1st, and the Judges have just given us the letter which they selected as the winner of the first prize, and we have taken the liberty of reproducing other interesting paragraphs from different letters from all sections of the country.

The RESCO Shoe Fitting System is now at your service in every Regal Shoe Store from Coast to Coast, and whether you wear Regal Shoes or not, you are cordially invited to come in at any time without the slightest obligation to purchase, and have your feet measured by this new Scientific Fitting Machine.

"With old fashioned size stick method," If a shoe was tight, the salesman would say "That is because the shoe is new. It will wear up when you wear it." Your own feet counteracted this.

(Mrs. A. H. Hayes, Liberty, N. Y.)

"It took me just three minutes to be fitted with your new Resco Foot Measuring Machine, and I got a pair of spruce shoes that were comfortable."

(Hester Lane, Washington, D. C.)

The use of the Resco Foot Measuring Machine will hasten the day when discomfort in shoes due to faulty foot-measure, will be a thing of the past.

(Mrs. M. Barrett, Haver, New South)

The method of fitting by the old fashioned size stick had my feet in terrible condition. When I received a second pair of shoes and a plentiful supply of adhesive tape was an important part of my life.

(F. W. Davis, Asst. Sales Mgr., B. J. Davis & Co., New York City)

For the first time in many years I was perfectly and comfortably fitted with a pair of shoes—shoes that were really stylish and good to look upon.

(E. H. Savage, Worcester, Mass.)

I think that the Resco Fitting Machine is the most practical, scientific method of measuring the feet and getting the size properly.

(Wm. E. Robinson, General Hospital, San Antonio, Ark.)

As soon as I read of your wonderful Resco Fitting Machine, I took my daughter to a Regal store and asked to have her feet measured—I learned that she should be wearing a shoe half a size longer and one width wider than the one I had purchased a week before—something no shoe man ever told me before. I have always regretted that I had not taken her to a Regal store before.

(Mrs. A. H. Hayes, Liberty, N. Y.)

I am a new-style shoe merchant. Upon going into business, I took my daughter to a Regal store and asked to have her feet measured—I learned that she should be wearing a shoe half a size longer and one width wider than the one I had purchased a week before—something no shoe man ever told me before. I have always regretted that I had not taken her to a Regal store before.

From my point of view the Resco Fitting Machine eliminates all guesswork in measuring the foot, as it registers length, width and circumference, because the actual spread of the foot.

DEPOSED GREEK SEES CHANCE FOR THRONE

Monarchist Party Hope Revolt Will Lead to the Return of Royal Family

Albino, Greek, June 24 (A.P.)—General Pangalos, former War Minister, today definitely assumed the presidency as a result of yesterday's "coup d'etat" revolution by which he overthrew the Mikas government.

Admiral Kostas, who was the revolutionary leader, today kept his throne in the palace, but he was a return to power of the Greek royal family. Since the establishment of a Greek Republic, the monarchist party has been active in the country, and today, in order to be near Athens and ready to return home if called upon to lead a monarchist movement.

The movement was started when anti-government forces here and in Athens sent the telegraph offices and communication after some hours of shooting, in which many were killed.

The government did not seem alarmed at first, and seemed to be in control of the situation.

Later she charged him with unpaid separation allowance and he was again taken into custody. He appears in the New York courts today to answer the assault charge.

CAILLAUX PLANS 6 BILLION BOND PAYMENT

Paris, June 24 (A.P.)—Finance Minister Caillaux's plan for payment of maturing bonds provides for an increase of six billion francs in both the circulation and the bank of France's advances to the State, and for the issuance of gold bonds exchangeable for the National Defense bonds (due in July and September).

When the National Defense bonds are redeemed by the new gold bonds, the maximum of the State's floating debt will be fixed at the amount existing on the day the gold bonds are issued.

The Caillaux bill fixes the circulation of bank notes at 51,000,000,000 francs instead of 45,000,000,000 and the advances to the State by the Bank of France at 22,000,000,000 francs instead of 20,000,000,000.

The bill gives the government the right to fix the exact terms of the new gold bond issue to government debt.

The provision of the bill says the Treasury's advance is partly due to the "continued repayment of national defense bonds."

It says the maturing bonds for which the holders demand payment total 1,000,000,000 francs for July and 2,000,000,000 francs for September.

The new issue of gold bonds will be offered only in exchange for the maturing defense bonds, but the exchange will not be voluntary, the bill says. It is thus hoped to consolidate the greater part of this floating debt.

100 RICKENBACKER AUTO DEALERS HAVE OUTING

Nearly 100 Rickenbacker automobile dealers were the guests of J. M. Clarke and W. H. Stevens of the firm of Clarke & Stevens Company, New England Rickenbacker distributors, at an outing and fish dinner at Pemberton Inn, Pemberton, N.J., last night.

E. V. Rickenbacker, president of the Rickenbacker Motor Company of Detroit, was the guest of honor.

Because of the inclement weather the program of outdoor sports was cancelled. Following the meal, informal speeches were made by Captain Rickenbacker, J. M. Clarke and W. H. Stevens. The entire party returned to Boston on the late afternoon boat.

SKIN BULLSEYE 'NEGRO' FIND RICH YOUTH

Son of Durant, Chicago Millionaire, Plays Target for Bulls at California Resort

Venice, Cal., June 24 (A.P.)—For a piece of silver one can buy three throws with a baseball at a bull's eye in the amusement concession district here, which, when properly hit, causes a negro to drop from his high perch into a pool of water.

Chicago lad, the bull's eye and the "negro" fell into the arms of three detectives who passed off his face make-up and revealed him as Jack Durant, adopted son of a Chicago millionaire, wanted by police of that city in connection with a series of burglaries.

Durant admitted his identity, but denied complicity in the burglaries. "I didn't do anything in Chicago," said "Somebody just swayed."

Counterfeit Bills Passed in Hub, Public Warned

United States Secret Service agents in Boston today warned the public that a case of counterfeit bills from out of town is in the city and has passed a large number of bills.

All the bills are on the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston, in $5, $10 and $20 denominations. Some bills obtained by Secret Service agents are executed by hand and should be detected easily. The agents ask the public to aid in locating members of the gang.

The United States Secret Service intervened in the case of the $500 building laborers in Boston, which threatens to bring about a general strike of 25,000 men engaged in the building trade.

Charles O. Wood of the U. S. Department of Labor has summoned the representatives of the union and the representatives of the building employers to a conference when an effort will be made to reach some agreement and end the strike.

The laborers are on strike for higher wages, while the employers have refused to grant any wage increases and have also refused to submit the question of wage advances for 1925 to a board of arbitration.

MAN DROPS TO DEATH UNDER R. R. CAR

East Boston Victim Cut Off Wrong Side of Train at South Station

Harvard University student, 25, of Franklin street, East Boston, who today was on his way to the wrong side of the tracks, was killed at South Station as he stepped from the train. The body was discovered by one of the train men. The victim was a student of Harvard University, who was on his way to the wrong side of the tracks. The train was moving slowly at the time, and the victim was on the side of the tracks.

Flappers Warned of Dangers From 'Fatigue' Slouch

Amherst, June 25.—The fatigue slouch that is an alluring to the young girl of today endures a malignant threat. Mrs. Ida Harrington of Riverport, N. J., told home demonstration agents, who are in a four-day conference at the Massachusetts Agricultural College here.

"The leading world has at ways held out made cures, but no artificial can do for women what they won't do for themselves," she said. "If women will not at least maintain a natural erect posture without corsets, they should wear them. Five minutes of exercise by the woman herself will do more good than one hour of massage."

WILL FIGHT TO HOLD JOB IN SOMERVILLE

Building Commissioner Removed by Mayor Will Be Heard by Aldermen

George M. Dudley, for more than a decade the building commissioner of a Somerville, denied emphatically that he is a loafer. Consequently, he intends to fight his removal from office by order of Mayor John M. Webster, and will demand a public hearing, which will be accorded him by the Somerville Board of Aldermen early next week. The board the Mayor ousted the commissioner because he claims Dudley neglected his official duties.

JOY REIGNED ALLEGED

Absence from his office during regular business hours and a tendency to leave his office on Friday afternoons, were the charges against Dudley until the following Monday were among the reasons given by the Mayor for Dudley's suspension. To all of which charges Mr. Dudley and his friends indignantly "threw" "Not so."

The Mayor also drags in the matter of pleasure riding in city automobiles. According to the Mayor Mr. Dudley owns his own car and has been using it for pleasure riding for the oil, tires and wear and tear of the machine caused by its use in city business.

While drawing down this $75, the mayor charged, the commissioner has been using a new sedan which the city of Somerville recently purchased for the use of Mr. Dudley's chief assistant.

"HERE VIKINGLY WARNED." Mr. Dudley was suspended as of June 15, and today is the last day for him to file notice that he wishes a public hearing. The notice was filed in ample time, his friends declared.

"During the past year," says Mayor Webster's communication suspending the commissioner, "I have repeatedly warned Mr. Dudley that he was neglecting his duties and conducting himself in an improper manner, and I would be obliged to suspend him unless there was a change for the better."

2 SOLDIERS HELD IN ARMY STORE ROBBERIES

The systematic looting of the supply depot of Fort Strong on Long Island is believed by army authorities to have been broken up by the arrest of Charles Houtnik, acting sergeant at the fort, and Private Louis Guri, both of whom have been confined in wholesale thefts of army shirts, blankets and sheets. Private Guri was followed to Boston, where he was observed to carry two heavily loaded suitcases aboard the steamer Michael Perkins. When Boston was reached the bags were opened and were found to contain a large number of army shirts.

Man Hurls $22,000 Into River to 'End Troubles'

Norfolk, Va., June 25.—Scores of divers, and many others who were graphing lines, were off Campbell wharf trying to recover $22,000 that James McAllister threw overboard.

McAllister, who is 72, indicated too freely in corn whiskey while visiting his usual haunts on the waterfront. He walked up to a policeman and asked to be arrested.

"I have just drowned my troubles by throwing my money overboard," he told the policeman. An investigation brought out the fact that McAllister had been seen with $10,000 in bills on his person. He said he threw $22,000 overboard because he had been to see a moving picture called "Dante's Inferno" and wished to end his troubles.

5 DEAD, 43 HURT IN HAVOC BY TEMPEST

Four Public Buildings Hit by Lightning in Greater New York; Loss Heavy

New York, June 24 (AP).—Greater New York was recovering today from the effects of a thunderstorm during which lightning struck a cathedral, a museum, hospital and a synagogue.

The storm broke at the night club in New Jersey and forty-three persons were killed in accidents in New Jersey and forty-three persons were injured. A one-man injury resulting, with death in Jersey City, crashed into a crowd at a hotel. Two persons were killed near Hampton, where their automobiles skidded. Two were injured. Eight others were hurt in a Brooklyn trolley accident.

A bolt knocked an arm from the cross atop one of the majestic spires of Saint Patrick's Cathedral on Fifth Avenue, while 400 persons many of them worshippers, were in the offices. Fragments of the 200-pound marble arm shattered on the roof and on taxicabs at the curb. Diversified from the scene, the bolt travelled down the lightning rod and sent up a sheet of flame twenty feet high as it hit the ground.

A fifteen-ton granite ball was hurled from a tower of the American Museum of Natural History by another bolt. The ball exploded as it landed with dynamite, tearing a hole in the roof, shattering windows and spilling up twenty-five feet of water wall. Lightning hit the North Hudson Hospital and Emmanuel Evangelical Church in Union City, N. J. The hospital's electric cable was blown out and smoke filled the lobby. Later, a lightning bolt struck a garage, wounding 150 patients who were thrown into a panic.

Brookside Chili Sauce</

A glorious drink for the glorious Fourth!

GLORIOUS holiday too! . . . Doubly appreciated this year because it falls on Saturday. . . . A whole week-end for play and recreation. . . . For pleasure jaunts by automobile . . . picnics . . . baseball . . . golf . . . tennis . . . yachting . . . happy days and nights by seashore's sands.

Wherever you go—whatever you do—there will come a time when the thirsty thirst of summer will overtake you and you'll long for a drink that is really cooling and refreshing.

A good drink! A pure drink! A wholesome drink! A drink that refreshes as it cools! A drink that lifts you up mentally and physically and helps you over the peak of the hottest day! An honored and a famous drink! The Champagne of Ginger Ales! "Canada Dry."

"It refreshes as it cools." Say that over several times and see if that isn't just what you've always wanted in a summer-time beverage. "It refreshes as it cools."

There's something about it like the stimulation of mountain air! A fresh, crisp keenness! A wonderful flavor for your taste—a tonic for your stomach—a certain thoroughbred quality that is unmistakable!

For "Canada Dry" is a real ginger ale—made from real Jamaica ginger, and because of that is genuinely good for you. It is one ginger ale that does not contain capsicum (red pepper) in any form.

Its purity is so well recognized that it has been served for years in the leading hospitals in Canada, and is now actually prescribed by physicians in this country.

There is no better—no finer—no safer summer-time beverage in all the world than "Canada Dry."

For . . . "it . . . refreshes . . . as . . . it . . . cools!"

REGARDING IMITATIONS

For your own protection, remember that every ginger ale sold in a green bottle is not "Canada Dry." It pays to be particular.

IN DROP FROM SHENANDOAH BY PARACHUTE

Member of Crew Makes Successful Descent; Dirigible on Test Flight

BOSTON, N. J., June 26 (A.P.)—Marion H. Felt, a member of the crew of the dirigible Shenandoah, made a successful parachute descent from the ship today while the craft was gliding over Haverhill in the afternoon of the twenty-fourth of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. This was the first of the test flights, and it was a successful one. The Shenandoah was launched over the lower harbor today and attracted the attention of thousands in the skydivers in the financial district. Next week she is scheduled to fly to Mexico and back to the city in the summer of 1925.

SHOULD JUMP AT CHANCE

Many people, Mr. MacCutchison said, would not jump at a chance to insure their lives. He said that insurance is a wise investment and that people should take advantage of the opportunity to insure their lives. He said that insurance companies are looking for people who are willing to jump at a chance to insure their lives.

MAJOR BILL ARMITAGE, seven years previously the sweetheart of Sally, appears in search of Lasalle. Unexpected meeting renews acquaintance, but Sally is coy and Bill blunders. When the suspicion comes that Lasalle may be dead in Smuggler's Leap, Sally is angry with Bill for harboring it.

"Gally, we're going out," she ran upstairs and was back in an astonishingly short time with a grey woolly coat and a little grey felt hat crammed down on her head.

"I'm ready," she announced rather breathlessly, and they went on to interest, she decided, really being nice and friendly. An impulse moved

MANUFACTURING IN 1923
MATCHES RECORD OF 1919

Wash Post, June 6, 1934—The Census Bureau today announced that in 1923 output of the American match-manufacturing industry was the highest since the industry's heyday in 1919, when it produced a record 1,145,000,000 matches.

It was shown today in Census Bureau reports for New York and Connecticut, the two largest match-manufacturing states. Their combined output in 1923, nearly 518,000,000,000, was 10 per cent more than the output of the entire country in 1924, and any year

Paris, June 26 (A.P.)—An edict has been raised in the press because of the renting of the Dragon's baroque 17th-century carriage, which is loaned to a Paris touring agency, which has placed it on the entrance and exit of the Bastille's admission to the Louvre. The carriage, which is valued at an immense underground labyrinth which was converted into barracks during the Revolution, was the war, it was recovered in June 1945.

A miniature of Mme. Turgot, to noted French beauty of the 18th century, which was loaned to the agency for the occasion, is the property of the French Republic. The miniature is now in possession of Charles A. Miley of New York, a friend of Mr. and Mrs. Miley, who is an art collector and a member of the French Republic.

VOICING THE GREAT DEMOCRACY OF THE AIR

Suffolk County Has an Able District Attorney

Because the Boston Evening American is not a newspaper published for Democrats, Republicans or Independents, it enjoys the privilege and endeavors to discharge the responsibility of telling its readers, from time to time, the truth, as this newspaper sees the truth, about their own public servants.

One of the most important public services that a citizen can render his fellow citizens is that of being the attorney of the people, for then he has the people as his client. If he is an honest and fearless District Attorney, for example, the people of his district are his only client. He is not accountable except to them, and except in two ways—either directly at the polls or through those agencies that the people set up for the purpose of safeguarding the very powerful and very responsible office of District Attorney.

For Thomas C. O'Brien, the District Attorney of Suffolk County, this newspaper entertains a very genuine esteem. We hold for him no brief. We are not the keeper of his conscience. We make no claim to be in his confidence. We judge him by his record in the past and in the present, as a private citizen and as a public servant.

As District Attorney of Suffolk County Mr. O'Brien has made a record that reflects credit upon the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. He has earned in that office the confidence of the courts and the respect of the public. And therefore his availability for other offices is from time to time discussed.

Ever since Mr. O'Brien became District Attorney of Suffolk County his excellent record in that office has been exceedingly expediting to the smaller fry among the politicians of both the Republican and Democratic parties. This is because they have not been able either to intimidate him or to corrupt him, either to cajole him or to control him. Further, Mr. O'Brien, to his everlasting credit, has earned the deep-seated hatred of a certain sort of lawyer who is a disgrace to the profession.

Then, too, among his critics are honest men, here and there, who are such bigoted partisans that they can see no good in any public servant who happens to belong to a political party to which they are opposed. In addition to these critics Mr. O'Brien has from time to time been honored by nagging of the ventriloquists of Greater Boston—the little fellows who earn their keep by maligning honest public servants in an effort to break them down in the estimation of the plain people.

What is true of the District Attorney of Suffolk County is equally true of the District Attorney of Middlesex County and of his brave and able assistant, Mr. Bushnell. Mr. Reading and Mr. Bushnell are Republicans and Mr. O'Brien is a Democrat, but each has refused to prostitute the great office of District Attorney to the nefarious purposes of partisan politics or personal aggrandizement. As long as each remains loyal to his trust each need not fear the abuse of the mendacious and each may well profit by the sincere criticism of the truthful.

Whether Mr. O'Brien intends to become a candidate for Mayor of Boston this newspaper does not know. Whether he should cut short his excellent administration in his present office to enter the race for Mayor is a question regarding which this newspaper retains an open mind.

But the mind of this newspaper is closed upon one aspect of this question. The mind of this newspaper is not open upon the question of the propriety of Mr. O'Brien's running for Mayor of Boston and retaining the office of District Attorney of Suffolk County.

If Thomas C. O'Brien were to become a candidate for Mayor of Boston the Boston Evening American hopes that he will make his race in the spirit of the charter, that he will burn his bridges behind him by ending his service as District Attorney—as the attorney of the people—before he begins a campaign for Mayor of Boston, for Governor of Massachusetts, or for any other office, unless it be for a second term as District Attorney.

Who Heads the Family?

In Many Homes Dominant Position Has Been Usurped by Junior Members

Who is head of the modern family? Magistrate Cobb of New York found difficulty determining that the other day when the parents of a boy were arraigned for violating the compulsory education law.

Each parent claimed to be the head of the house. The nonplussed jurist sustained justice by fining them both.

That was an easy question to answer. The Magistrate might have been confronted by families in which every member claimed to be the head of the household.

There are many homes in which the dominant position has been usurped by wilful sons and ultra-advanced daughters. Sometimes even a babe in a cradle will be found exercising autocratic authority, and that is not the worst form of domestic government, either.

Essentials of Success

Three things, and three only—opportunity, money and brains—are needed to achieve success, says John E. Andrus, the chemist, who is planning to give his millions to poor children. Opportunity always exists in this country, he adds; money in moderate quantities is easily obtained, but brains—ah, there's the precious ingredient.

Mr. Andrus' formula for success is sound, for he is discussing practical, material success. Hale and hearty at eighty-four years, he speaks from the depths of experience. But here's hoping that John E. Andrus lives to taste the success that will be achieved by the transforming of his millions into happiness for ailing, impoverished children. He will then set a new standard for success. The most successful men that ever lived were those who sacrificed most for others. The greatest were the humblest.

Learning Quickly

CHINA is coming up out of the cellar of antiquity, she is coming out of the ignorance and superstition and helplessness of centuries.

She is finding herself, and when she gets done with this work, a lot of European powers, as well as Japan, will be trying to prove alphas for her, trying.

For these powers have been trying the fat out of civilization's vast yellow Serf for many years!

They have told China how she should live—what she should not do—and what she should surrender to these powers.

They have taken her coast, her resources, and they have erected their own courts in which they have tried themselves for violating China law!

America has been fairly decent with China, one of these decent acts being the forgiving of the Boxer indemnity money—and China remembers friendship as well as pillage.

"China for the Chinese" is their battle cry—and it's hard to find anything unreasonable in this—especially if you are an American.

A WIFE'S MEDITATIONS

By Helen Rowland

MOST women marry with the illusion that they are going to have so much more time for courtship—most men, with the idea that they are going to have so much more time for everything else.

What a woman can need under the courtship is all done and over with.

When her husband strolls her to lower her skirt, a woman doesn't know whether to be more vexed at his civility, or more flattered at his admission that anybody would find her worth looking at.

It is difficult for a woman to know at just what moment her natural curiosity will come to be considered "sweet-wildly attitude," and become "mean feminine suspicion."

Marriage is what changes "love's old sweet song" from a melody into an elegy.

Love is not dead until a man stops taking your kisses and begins accepting them.

Why no man can understand the why the woman he married should expect him to go right on treating

THE HELPING HAND

Letters Not Answered Personally. No Attention Paid to Telephone Calls or Anonymous Notes. No Names Published.

They Have Nothing Helping Hand Editor: I am writing about a couple who is just back from the hospital. Her husband had to go for food and now they have nothing. Only for me they would starve. The mother wears size 10 and there is a girl. I hope some of the readers will help them as their rent is in arrears and they have no money to pay it.

Yet Wants a Chance Helping Hand Editor: I am an ex-service man, married and need a job badly. I have a good business education and would be glad to work in a store or factory. Business reverses have left me in a predicament, but I do not want charity, just a chance to support my wife and child.

Other Nifty Ones Margaret F. Needs there are girls 13 and 4 and boys 14 and 9 in her family and her mother would appreciate an old sewing machine, also Spring coat, for mother, size 38, pants and shoes for brothers, sizes 13 and 3 1/2.

Mrs. M. L. D. has six children, boys 6, 7, 8 and 9 and girls 4 and 10 months old. They need clothing and shoes. Husband just starting to work after being idle all winter, but does not make enough to buy these things.

Mrs. L. M. L., whose income is only $15 a week, would appreciate clothing for boys 11, 10, 8 and 1 year old, and for herself, size 40 or 42, shoes 8 1/2.

Mrs. G. R. S., whose husband is in the hospital, appeals for clothing for herself and shoes 11. Husband needs pants, size 31.

Mrs. C. C., widow with a sick son, appeals for suit and underwear for him, size 38, shoes 5 and dresses 42, coat 44, for herself.

Mrs. N. R. will share her camp in the woods free with some needy human or couple who would like to rough it for the Summer. Ten cent carfare to Boston.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By Alaine Michaelis. Oh, wide the old Rhine lies, and strange the paths men go, and where they lead, beneath what skies no man may know. So many paths along it seems that all should own dear, valiant friends whose love and song for pain alone. Yet, from the thorn apart my footsteps ever lead a heartless service is my heart, few enter there. And if these few should go, should one by one depart, no sting of sorrow would I know within my heart. For I could see them meet, and leave upon the wind, and count them but as yellowed grass. If one were kind, the world would still be fair, and life a cloudless day if one should and a heartless service is my heart, few enter there. And if these few should go, should one by one depart, no sting of sorrow would I know within my heart. For I could see them meet, and leave upon the wind, and count them but as yellowed grass. If one were kind, the world would still be fair, and life a cloudless day if one should and a heartless service is my heart, few enter there.
